

Lending library - DVDs of some Washington Butterfly Association programs
(WBA members wishing to borrow DVDs contact Al Wagar, jalanwagar@gmail.com)

Rearing Lep Kids (on working with youngsters concerning butterflies)
Martha Robinson & INSTARS, October 1, 2009

Talkin' the Blues: Identification & Clarification of the Blue Butterflies of Washington
Johnathan P. Pelham, February 4, 2009

Butterflies of the Yakima Region (on the butterflies likely to be seen on conference field trips)
Dr. David James, July 17, 2009 (at WBA Annual Conference in Yakima)

Butterfly Conservation: Saving the Rainbow Resource (Keynote to WBA Annual Conference in Yakima)
Dr. Robert Michael Pyle, July 18, 2009

Using Conservation Detection Dogs for Surveys of a Threatened Plant: Kincaid's Lupine
David G. Vesely, September 2, 2009

The Naturalist's Field Journal: A traditional tool for learning
Libby Mills, October 7, 2009

Enjoying and Protecting Butterflies in Washington
Ann Potter. November 4, 2009

Basic Butterfly Biology. Jonathan Pelham - December 2, 2009

Butterflies, Bears, and 12-foot Fennel: Exploring Sicily and the French Pyrenees.
Bill Yake - February 3, 2010

Hairstreaks of Washington State. Bob Hardwick - March 3, 2010. 76 minutes

The Papilionidae & Pieridae of Washington (Parnassians, swallowtails, whites & sulphurs) 80 min
David Droppers - May 5, 2010

Nature Video & Videography with a Focus on Butterflies. Al Wagar - September 1, 2010. 37 min.

Basic Butterfly Biogeography. Jonathan Pelham - October 6, 2010

Butterfly Research in North Cascades & Mt. Rainier National Parks – Dr. John McLaughlin. November 3, 2010

Butterflies of Ecuador. - Bob Hardwick. December 1, 2010. 69 minutes

Bob Pyle's February 2 program "Butterfly Conservation: Saving the Rainbow Resource" did not get recorded. See above for the for July 18, 2009 DVD of a somewhat similar program.

Dichotomous Key to the Butterflies of Washington State. David Droppers. March 2, 2011. 64 minutes.

A Brief History of Butterfly Study Before the Twentieth Century: With an eye to cultural, political, and religious influences. Jonathan P. Pelham. April 6, 2011. 65 minutes.

The Hesperidae (Skippers) of Washington. Bob Hardwick, May 4, 2011

Species Profiles: Mountain Parnassian, November 3, 2011. Skippers: Overview of Immature Stages, May 4, 2011. Edith's Copper, June 1, 2011. Dave Nunnallee.

Butterflies of Washington State's "Far East:" Hot Spots & Species of Spokane & Pend Oreille Counties. John Baumann & Brenda McCracken, June 1, 2011

Butterflies of Pend Oreille & Spokane Counties: Tips on species to look for & where you might find them. John Baumann, July 15, 2011 (at our 11th Annual Conference)

Inland Empire: Lepidopterists & Lepidoptera. Jon Shepard. July 16, 2011 (at our 11th Annual Conference)

Managing a Tropical Butterfly House. Sarah Moore, Life Sciences Manager, Pacific Science Center. September 7, 2011.

Species Profiles: Northwestern Fritillary, September 7, 2011 and Monarch, October 5, 2011. Dave Nunnallee.

The Sphinx Moths of Washington. David Droppers. October 5, 2011.

Re-evolution in Natural History (foundation of butterfly research and those who built it with an evaluation of cultural, political and religious influences), Part 2. Jonathan Pelham. November 2, 2011

Life Histories of Cascadia Butterflies (and how the book came to be). Dave Nunnallee. December 7, 2011

The Lesser Fritillaries and Crescents of Washington State. Bob Hardwick. February 1, 2012

Dragonflies: Rainbows on the Wing. Dr. Dennis Paulson. March 7, 2012